

CODE OF ETHICS FOR THE SCIENTIFIC JOURNAL «COMUNICAR»

Authors

The authors of the manuscripts sent to Comunicar guarantee that the submitted work is original and that the manuscripts themselves neither contain extracts from other authors, nor contain other fragments from written works that were previously published (by the same authors). Furthermore, the authors confirm the veracity of the data, namely that the empirical data have not been altered to verify hypotheses.

The authors pledge that they have revised the most up-to-date and relevant materials about the subject matter, thereby taking into account the dual nature of different currents of thought.

In terms of the authorship of the work, the authors guarantee that there is the inclusion of those individuals who have made a scientifically significant and intellectual contribution to the conceptualization and planning of the work, and have also made a contribution to the interpretation of the results and the actual writing of the article. At the same time, the authors have been hierarchically organized in accordance to their level of responsibility and their respective roles.

All the authors accept responsibility for what they have written.

Reviewers

The reviewers are committed to performing a critical, honest, constructive, and unbiased review of both the scientific and the literary quality of the written work, i.e. based on their individual skills and knowledge.

The reviewers are committed to evaluating the works in the minimum possible time so as to respect the stated deadlines, i.e. given that Comunicar's policy for holding pending documents is limited and restricted for the purpose of respecting authors and their works.

The reviewers only revise a manuscript if they feel that they are competent in the subject matter and if there are no conflicts of interest.

The reviewers will submit a complete and critical report with adequate references according to Comunicar's review protocol and the established public norms for reviewers, especially if it should be recommended that the work be rejected. They are obliged, moreover, to advise the editors whether substantial sections of the work have been previously published, or if they are being revised by another publication.

Editors

Editors and the Editorial Committee are committed to maintaining the confidentiality of the manuscripts, their authors and their reviewers, in such a way that anonymity preserves the intellectual integrity of the whole process.

The editors ensure the selection of the most qualified reviewers and scientifically specialists to issue an expert and critical appreciation of the manuscript, with the least possible level of bias. «Comunicar» opts to select between 4 and 7 reviewers for each manuscript so as to ensure a greater objectivity in the revision process.

The editors are responsible for compliance with the time limits for reviews and publication of accepted papers, to ensure rapid dissemination of its results. They reliably undertake to comply with the published deadlines (up to 30 days in accepting/rejecting from the receipt of the manuscript in the review platform) and maximum of 150 days from the beginning of the process of scientific review by experts. Also, manuscripts will not remain accepted in endless waiting lists without being published in the following issue. This will prevent «Comunicar» from having a bank of manuscripts on a waiting list.

The Comunicar Journal adheres to the ethical norms of the COPE
Committee on Publication Ethics

<http://publicationethics.org/resources/code-conduct>